

University of Delaware Psychological & Brain Sciences Doctoral Programs Visit Day

Friday, September 14, 2018

Application Due: Friday, June 15, 2018

Behavioral Neuroscience, Clinical Science, Cognitive Psychology, & Social Psychology
Ph.D. Programs

The inclusion of diverse viewpoints, perspectives, and experiences is critical to the success of psychological and brain sciences. The University of Delaware Department of Psychological & Brain Sciences is hosting a Visit Day for all four of our Ph.D. programs. We invite research-oriented undergraduate seniors and recent graduates from underrepresented groups to apply to visit our campus and learn more about doctoral training in Psychological & Brain Sciences at the University of Delaware.

Accepted students will be invited to visit the Department at the University of Delaware (Newark, DE) Friday, September 14, 2018. Travel, lodging, and meals will be provided.

The visit day will include:

- Presentations on selecting a graduate program, applying to graduate school, graduate funding opportunities, mentoring, and student life
- Individual and small group meetings with program faculty members and graduate students to discuss students' research interests
- Research presentations and lab meetings
- A campus tour
- Social events and networking with current graduate students and faculty members

To apply: complete an online application by 06/15: https://delaware.ca1.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV_dgplarLiajdL5JP

The application requests:

- Unofficial transcript (may be uploaded directly to the online application)
- CV (may be uploaded directly to the online application)
- Student responses to questions about demographic factors and educational and career plans
- Optional: Letter of support (may be uploaded directly to the online application)

Questions? Email: Ctecc@psych.udel.edu

